

Reading List for Business and Computer Science, Grades K-5

Title/Author	Description
Bank Tellers by Katie Bagley	Part of the "Community Helpers" series, this book explains what bank tellers do, where they work, the skills they need and the service they provide for the community. A hands-on "money memory" activity is included with step-by-step instructions. The game can easily be made at home or school and helps to reinforce addition and counting skills.
The Big Buck Adventure by Shelley Gill and Deborah Tobola	With a crisp dollar bill clutched tightly in her hand, a little girl is overwhelmed by the choices the store offers.. The rollicking verse and delightful illustrations will draw readers into this engaging little book with its clever math problems. Great for one-on-one sharing or use in a classroom.
Bikes for Rent! By Isaac Olaleye	Lateef, a poor boy living in a western Nigeria village, works hard collecting firewood and mushrooms to sell in the marketplace so he can rent a bicycle to ride around the hills and jump potholes with his friends until he wrecks the bike and must work to pay for the repairs.
Cashiers by Katie Bagley	Presented in a simple, direct manner, children will learn about the duties of a cashier and the equipment a cashier uses to do the job. Readers will also learn how cashiers work together with other people in a store to become a team.
The Coin Counting Book by Rozanne Lanczak Williams	This unique book offers the young reader the opportunity to see the coins in detail and to appreciate their value. The book begins with counting pennies in relation to a nickel and then to a dime. Then nickels and dimes in relation to quarters; all denominations in relation to a fifty cent piece; and finally how many coins does it take to make a dollar.
The Cool Crazy Crickets to the Rescue! By David Elliott	The four members of the Cool Crazy Crickets are eager to earn money since they have ruled against dues. So they take on babysitting, which turns out to be tougher than they thought. They try selling lemonade and pet-walking Tiny, a huge Irish wolfhound, who goes crazy when a strange, one-eyed cat appears in the neighborhood.
Owen Foote, Money Man by Stephanie Greene	Owen has discovered an amazing catalog called "Junk You Never Knew About," and found a bunch of neat stuff to buy. The only trouble is, he's broke! How can he make some cash, quick? Owen Foote's new adventure makes a hilarious and fast-paced book, perfect for kids fascinated with the joys of getting and spending money.
A Dollar for Penny by Julie Glass	Penny's lemonade stand is doing a booming business in this delightful book, designed to help children begin reading and solving basic math problems. The upbeat rhyming text and exuberant illustrations will engage and delight young children.

Growing Money: A Complete and Completely Updated Investing Guide for Kids by Gail Karlitz	Holding a fistful of imaginary dollars, young, would-be millionaires try their hands at saving and investing and come away with lots of financial savvy
How to Make a Million by Rowland Morgan	Coinage across the globe is described with particular attention to the money systems used in countries such as the United States, Great Britain, Japan and Germany. Presented in an informative, yet tongue-in-cheek manner, this book will offer readers a sturdy introduction to the world of currency.
Money Power Discovery Library by Jason Cooper	This brand new six book series has been designed to explain to kids what money is, its history and how it is made and how it is used. While it has a primarily American focus, it does discuss and describe money from other parts of the world including the most recent monetary system--the Euro.
Money Through the Ages by Jason Cooper	Explores barter systems, the history of money, banking, credit card minting. Helps students recognize the forms of US currency and gives a look at money from other countries
Around the World with Money by Jason Cooper	Discusses currency used around the world, featuring the money of the United States, Canada, Europe, Japan, and China.
American Coins and Bills by Jason Cooper	Reveals the history of money in the United States, from the wampum and foreign coins used by colonists, to the new paper money designed to be difficult to counterfeit and the quarters honoring the states.
How Coins and Bills Are Made by Jason Cooper	Describes the steps involved in minting coins and paper money, and touches on the topics of coin collecting and deterring counterfeiters.
Keeping Money Safe by Jason Cooper	Looks at how the United States Federal Reserve System, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, banks, businesses, and individual people work to protect the money for which they are responsible.
Paying Without Money by Jason Cooper	Explores barter systems, the history of money, banking, credit card minting. Helps students recognize the forms of US currency and gives a look at money from other countries
Cash, Credit Cards, or Checks By Nancy Loewen	Lively stories offer a valuable lesson in this introduction to basic economic concepts. Smarty the Pig adds helpful tips and money advice throughout this engaging and informative book.
Our Money by Karen B. Spies	This quick, easy-to-read book will give you a few new word meanings in our language and enlighten you with some good information
Rent Party Jazz by William Miller	During the Depression in New Orleans, Sonny's mother loses her job and may not be able to play the rent. But Sonny persuades Smilin' Jack, an itinerant trumpet player, to be the music for a rent party. Neighbors come, bringing food to share, coins for the rent bucket and plenty of goodwill for dancing, talking and enjoying the music. An author's note explains how rent parties originated in the South in the 1920s and 1930s to raise money for those in need.

Millions by Frank Cottrell Boyce	What would you do with a million in cash? This is the problem facing Damian and his brother Anthony. When a million British pounds seemingly fall from the sky, Damian sees this as a case of divine intervention. Set just days before the conversion of the pound to the Euro, Damian must find a way to spend the money before it loses its value.
Maps and Mazes: A First Guide to Mapmaking , by Gillian Chapman	This book includes illustrations, maps, games, grids, and mazes as guides to decipher many kinds for maps.
The General Store , by Bobbie Kalman	This book describes the general stores of the past, roles of storekeepers in communities and general stores today.
Careers for Computer Buffs , by Andrew Kaplan	Includes interviews with fourteen people who work in computers.
Getting Ready for a Career as a Computer Animator , by Bill Lund	This book describes how computer animation has developed, it uses in various fields and some related careers.
Getting Ready for a Career as a Computer Technician , by Bill Lund	This book describes the work done by technicians who install and maintain computer equipment and systems and describes career opportunities in the field.
Getting Ready for a Career as a Video Game Designer , by Bill Lund	This book discusses the development of video games as well as the skills and education required for a career as a game designer.
Getting Ready for a Career as an Internet Designer , by Bill Lund	This book provides an overview of the development and capabilities of the internet and discusses related careers.
Getting Ready for a Career In Computers , by Bill Lund	This book is a guide to programming, drafting, data-entry, and other computer-related careers.
Budgeting Your Money , by Stuart Schwartz and Craig Conley	This book explains how to budget money, discussing income, savings, fixed and variable expenses, living expenses and economizing.
Earning Money , by Stuart Schwartz and Craig Conley	This book explains the advantages of earning money, how to assess one's financial needs and how to meet them.
Opening a Bank Account , by Stuart Schwartz and Craig Conley	This book explains the steps for opening a bank account offers advice on choosing a bank and selecting a type of account.
Retail Salesperson, by Charman Simon	This book explores job responsibilities, required education, and career development opportunities for becoming a salesperson.
Danger: Twins at Work! , by Francine Pascal	Celebrate "Take your Daughter to Work Day" as seven-year-old twins go to work with their mother in a big department store.
The Berenstain Bears and Mama's New Job , by Stan and Jan Berenstain	Mama Bear decides to turn her hobby into a business and family members try to help out around the house.